

Seven Team Members for a Successful Project

When starting a project, the number of professionals needed can seem overwhelming.

Below, William Frey Construction summarizes each expert and their role.

THE EXPERT IS IN

Known for his open space designs, Bill Frey offers insights and expertise to inspire your next project.

General Contractor

The coordinator or the “General” of the project.

Sub-Contractors

These experts in their trades should possess both experience and understanding of the latest technology in their fields.

Architect

Determines the “what” to build: size, style, functionality, land value optimization.

Engineer

Determines the “how” you are going to build: the posts, beams, foundation, etc.

Interior Designer

Coordinates the interior so that it reflects both the building style and your lifestyle.

Realtor

A surprising mention, but isn't a successful project supported by a corresponding increase in property value? Often at the beginning of a project is the question of whether to move or stay and remodel.

Local Vendors

Nothing beats a great local vendor with invaluable relationships with the general and sub-contractors.

Problems do occur during construction. Is there brainstorming, problem solving, or a fight for share of budget? If you hire seven members individually then you have seven points of contact and seven competing interests.

THE TEAM

If you employ the services of a premier design/build firm like William Frey Construction then you will have only one point of contact, and a team 100% focused on your satisfaction and successful project completion.
